

COLABORADORES

CHARLES T. WOLFE

charles.wolfe@sydney.edu.au

Mellon Fellow in History of Science, Department of History and Philosophy of Science, University of Pittsburgh (2011) Research Fellow, Centre for History of Science, University of Ghent (2011-2013). Charles T. Wolfe is interested in the interrelation between early modern philosophy and the history and philosophy of the life sciences, centring on themes such as the man-machine, mechanism and organism, and vitalism; and figures such as Locke, La Mettrie, and Diderot. In addition, Charles works on topics in 'classical empiricism' and philosophy of mind with a historical focus.

ALAN THOMAS

A.Thomas@uvt.nl

Is Professor of Ethics at Tilburg University and Director of the Tilburg Hub for Ethics and Social Philosophy (THESP). His research areas include moral, social and political philosophy, and the problem of consciousness. He was previously senior lecturer and head of the department of philosophy at the University of Kent, a Visiting Research Scholar at the University of British Columbia, and a Visiting Research Professor at the Murphy Institute, Tulane University. Alan Thomas has supervised MA and doctoral candidates to completion at the University of Kent and the University of London. He has been an external examiner of doctoral theses at Reading University, Melbourne University, University of Leuven, London University, and Sheffield University. He was an associate Editor for the journal Mind from 1990-93 and has refereed papers for Dialectica, Mind, Phenomenology and the Cognitive Sciences, Philosophy, Politics and Economics, Res Publica, Philosophical Quarterly, Philosophical Papers, Ethical Theory and Moral Practice, the Kantian Review, the Journal of Moral Philosophy, the Journal of Philosophical Research, Contemporary Political Theory, Synthese, South African Journal of Philosophy, Canadian Journal of Philosophy, and the European Journal of Philosophy. He has reviewed manuscripts and proposals for Oxford University Press, Cambridge University Press, Basil Blackwells, Acumen Press, Polity Press, and Edinburgh University Press. Member of the Association for the Scientific Study of Consciousness, American Philosophical Association, British Philosophical Association.

ROBERT W. GLOVER

gloverrw@jmu.edu

Is currently a Visiting Assistant Professor in the Justice Studies Department at James Madison University. His current research addresses the contemporary politics of immigration and citizenship with a focus on the issues of democratic legitimacy and non-citizen activism. He is currently at work on a book manuscript which examines the immigration issue in the United States through the theoretical lens of agonistic pluralism. His other research interests include democratic theory, critical security studies, international relations theory, comparative social movements, and transnational activism. Robert's recent work has been featured in PS: Political Science and Politics, Political Studies, and Philosophy and Social Criticism.

SHANE J. RALSTON

sjr21@psu.edu

Shane Ralston's research interests include American pragmatism (esp. John Dewey), social-political philosophy (esp. deliberative democracy), ethics (normative and applied), environmental philosophy (esp. Aldo Leopold), environmental communication, philosophy of education, philosophy of law, public administration theory and philosophy of public policy. He is cross-trained in the disciplines of Political Science and Public Administration. Currently professor Ralston is the book review editor for the journal Education and Culture and the World Congress Coordinator for the Society for the Advancement of American Philosophy. His research projects revolve around four broad areas: politics, ethics, education and environment. Most of my scholarly work on politics deals with deliberative democratic theory/practice, public policy, social science research methodology, international relations and the history of Political Science.

ARTURO HERMANN

ahermann@istat.it

a.hermann@libero.it

Arturo Hermann is Senior researcher; within the research structure "Law and Economics", his primary activity centers on the following theme: theoretical analysis of the contributions of institutional economics, with the main aim of evaluating, through the collection and study of relevant data, the norms, policies, and institutions best able to attain the goals of economic and social development. Within this ambit, he is analysing the following interrelated issues: (i) theoretical advances of institutional economics, with a particular focus on the interaction with other fields of social and psychological sciences; (ii) the structural problems of the Italian economy, with special attention to development strategies for the most disadvantaged regions and to the topic of sustainable development; (iii) the regulation of public utilities within the new legislative and institutional framework; (iv) the reform process of the public administration and the role played by the European Union, with special attention to the problem of coordination among policies and institutions. From May 1999 to April 2006 he represented ISAE, acting as a deputy member of CIPE-NARS (Consulting Committee for the Enactment of Guidelines for the Regulation of Public Utilities), where, among other institutional activities, he took part in the postal sector Working Group.

TRIANTAFYLLOS GKOUVAS

tr.gouvas@gmail.com

Is a research fellow at the Centre for Law and Cosmopolitan Values. His main research foci lie at the intersection of legal theory and metaethics. He is currently working on a Ph.D. project on legal normativity under the supervision of Professor George Pavlakos. His doctoral research aims at making a plausible case for a normative theory of law that can equally accommodate questions of institutional design and moral legitimacy. Triantafyllos holds a B.A. degree in Law and a LL.M. in Jurisprudence from the National and Kapodistrian University of Athens as well as a degree in Journalism from the Professional Journalism Workshop. Since 2006 he is a licensed member at the Athens Bar Association. He is a member of the Marangopoulos Foundation for Human Rights and an alumnus of the European Youth Parliament. He is an affiliated teaching assistant at the Philosophy of Law Section of the Athens Faculty of Law.

MASSIMO LEONE

massimo.leone@unito.it

Massimo Leone is Research Professor of Semiotics and Cultural Semiotics at the Department of Philosophy, University of Torino, Italy. He graduated in Communication Studies from the University of Siena, and holds a DEA in History and Semiotics of Texts and Documents from Paris VII, an MPhil in Word and Image Studies from Trinity College Dublin, a PhD in Religious Studies from the Sorbonne, a PhD in Art History from the University of Fribourg (CH). He was visiting scholar at the CNRS in Paris, at the CSIC in Madrid, Fulbright Research Visiting Professor at the Graduate Theological Union, Berkeley, Endeavour Research Award Visiting Professor at the School of English, Performance, and Communication Studies at Monash University, Melbourne, and Faculty Research Grant Visiting Professor at the University of Toronto. His work focuses on the role of religion in modern and contemporary cultures. Massimo Leone has authored two books, –Religious Conversion and Identity - The Semiotic Analysis of Texts– (London and New York: Routledge, 2004) and –Saints and Signs - A Semiotic Reading of Conversion in Early Modern Catholicism–

(Berlin and New York: Walter de Gruyter, 2010), as well as numerous papers in semiotics and religious studies. He has lectured in Africa, Asia, Australia, Europe, and North America. He is the chief editor of Lexia, the Semiotic Journal of the Center for Interdisciplinary Research on Communication, University of Torino, Italy.

MARTA SONIEWICKA

marta.soniewicka@gmail.com.

Doctor of Laws, Ph.D. Candidate in Philosophy, Assistant Professor in the Department of Philosophy of Law and Legal Ethics at the Faculty of Law and Administration (Jagiellonian University, Krakow, Poland); currently a Visiting Scholar in the Department of Health Law, Bioethics and Human Rights at the Boston University School of Public Health, and a Fulbright Fellow (Fulbright Senior Advanced Research Program Jan-Sept 2011); an author of a book Granice sprawiedliwości, sprawiedliwość ponad granicami (Boundaries of Justice, Justice Beyond Boundaries) Wolters Kluwer 2010, a co-author of a book "Paradoksy bioetyki prawniczej" ("Paradoxes of Legal Bioethics") Wolters Kluwer 2010; a co-editor of a.o. two volumes of Studies in the Philosophy of Law (Jagiellonian Univ. Press 2010); a member of an Editorial Board of the Krakauer-

Augsburger Rechtsstudien and of the CEE Forum Legal Theory Yearbook; her main areas of interest include political and legal philosophy, ethics and philosophy of Friedrich Nietzsche.

LOREDANA NICULET

loredana.niculescu@gmail.com

Licenciada en filosofía por la Universidad de Bucarest y doctoranda del Departamento de Filosofía de la Universitat Autònoma de Barcelona. Aparte de trabajar en una tesis doctoral sobre el concepto de vanguardia, Loredana Niculet forma parte del equipo de coordinación del programa de máster "Pensar l'Art d'Avui", organizado por la UAB en colaboración con la Fundació Joan Miró y del proyecto de investigación "Historicidad de la experiencia estética: continuidad y discontinuidad entre experiencia estética y sentido moral". Ha impartido clases de filosofía y literatura en la Casa Elizalde (Centro Cultural de Barcelona), ha participado en varios congresos internacionales de estética y filosofía y ha publicado varios artículos en revistas de especialidad. Su última publicación es el ensayo "L'altre Cioran: del buit existencial al cinisme terapèutic", en Pensar en temps d'incertesa, Pol Capdevila y Francis García (ed.), La Busca Edicions, Barcelona, 2011.